

CONNECT with others

CONNECT definition – to join together, link, have a relationship with CONNECT is about my relationships with other Christ-followers in the church. We intentionally work on building relationships with those who can encourage us and those we can encourage on this journey towards Jesus.

Ways to gauge my CONNECTION

- I actively participate in a life group to grow spiritually and grow in Biblical community.
- I believe the local church is the body of Christ on earth, the hope of the world.
- I strive to unconditionally love others in obedience to Jesus' example.
- I consistently pray for other Christ-followers.
- I actively and intentionally look for opportunities to connect with people I don't know before and after weekend worship services.
- When conflict arises, I humbly and lovingly meet face-to-face with others to work out our differences.
- I avoid gossip and talking negatively about people and the church.
- Others would say I'm quick to forgive.
- I support and pray for the leaders and staff of Revolution.
- I have gone through the partnership classes at Revolution and am engaged in the mission of Revolution.
- I spend time investing in friendships with others in the church outside of weekend gatherings and the life group meeting time.

- I believe all people are created in the image of God and therefore have equal value, regardless of race, religion, or gender.
- I am open with and accountable to other Christ-followers who know me well.
- I empathize with people going through struggles and trials.

Revolution Environments & Steps where we CONNECT

- Life Groups
- Revolution Kid's Small Groups
- Student Groups
- Growth Track (really this is what pulls the 3 steps together)